Transport Are Sunk

MASS EVACUATION

Large Number Of Troops
Lost After Once Being Rescued From Transport

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
LONDON, May 3.—Two British destroyers, carrying 700 men who had just escaped from a burning troop transport, were sunk during the evacuation of Greece and losses were believed to have been heavy.

Many more thousands of British-Anzac troops, however, were saved under the very eyes of the advancing Germans.

An admiralty announcement said the destroyers Diamond and Wryneck, loaded with Imperial troops, were sunk by German dive-bombers off the coast of Greece.

Fifty survivors were rescued by another destroyer and a long-boat (the second rescue in two days for the 500 men) and they may have reached Greece again.

Transport Set Afire

During the mass embarkment from the Naupolia on the night of April 24, one loaded transport was set afire. From the flaming ship

Body Of Youth Found In River

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, May 3.—The body of Robert M. Roeder, 22, with legs bound tightly together with clothesline, was found in the Allegheny River near Lock No. 2,
the coroner reported today.

Roeder had been missing since April 22, when he left a note in which he said he was "always doing everything wrong." A brother, Christian, identified the body and said Robert, a fine swimmer, evidently tied his feet together so that he could not swim to safety.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Police Chief Willis G. McMullen today asserted he plans to eliminate all of the most dangerous traffic hazards in the city—parking at Stop signs, which hides the Stop signs from other motorists. Such parking is general and the officers on foot and in cruiser cars have been instructed to act whenever they discover such situations.

Oiling of the dirt streets has begun, in an effort to keep down the dust which rises quickly with the lightest breeze, during this very dry period.

Weather conditions took another twist this morning, and temperature was again below forty degrees in the early morning. But no rain has as yet hit the district, and the clear sunny days continue one after another.

R. A. F. Blasts Hamburg; Nazis Bomb Liverpool

(International News Service)
LONDON, May 3.—A heavy British bombing raid on the German port of Hamburg which caused large fires and extensive damage during the night was announced by the British air ministry today.

The industrial area of Hamburg was particularly hard hit, the communications stated, adding that docks at the German port of Bremen and oil storage depots at the German-occupied Dutch port of Rotterdam also were attacked.

The R. A. F. attacks were carried out while Nazi night raiders gave Liverpool and the entire Merseyside area of Britain one of the heaviest battering that region has experienced, causing heavy damage and casualties.

During the daylight hours of yesterday, it was announced, British bombers attacked two enemy supply ships off the Dutch coast, sinking one and setting the other on fire.
Four British bombers are missing.

Casualties during last night's raid on Liverpool were officially described as "not unduly heavy" but hospitals, churches, trolley cars and business premises were damaged.

Blames Alcoholic Inflation For His Draft Opposition

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, May 3.—Thomas
E. Patsky, of Erie, was in the army today, his one-man "revolt" against the draft at an end.

Patsky, who refused to take the army oath of allegiance but insisted in so doing that he was "think-

Thoroughly sobered, he signed up for service without a fuss last night.

"I didn't intend to renege in my patriotic duty," he said. "It was just a case of alcoholic inflation."

Patsky said his wife was employed and that he fell under the draft age limit by just 25 days.

Japanese Bombers In Chungking Raid As Capt. Roosevelt Leaves

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
SHANGHAI, May 3.—Japanese bombers intensively attacked Chungking, capital of the Chiang Kai-Shek regime, exactly an hour after Capt. James Roosevelt, son of the American president, left the city for Rangoon.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Roosevelt has been visiting Chungking as an American military observer. He is expected to make his way to London to act as a United States naval attache there.

Apparently heralding widespread bombing raids, 87 Japanese planes took off from their Hankow bases this morning. Twenty-seven bombers later appeared over Chungking and heavily pounded the city and its suburbs. One bomb fell near the hotel where Roosevelt stayed during his visit.

This same bomb partially wrecked
the International News Service Chungking office. The attack marked the first Japanese raid on downtown Chungking this year.

Capt. Roosevelt's special plane took off en route to Rangoon while air raid alarms sounded in the city. All Americans in Chungking were reported safe.

O. P. M. Makes Plans For Steel Rationing

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Moving a step closer to complete mobiliza-

all steel produced in the nation and, at the same time, force an increase in steel production capacity from 91,000,000 to 105,000,000 tons a year, it was learned today.

Disclosure that a final decision has been made to expand steel capacity followed by less than a days a week and 24 hours a day and comb the country for skilled workers to man them, even reach-

Plan To Force Record Vote On Convoy Issue

By ROBERT A. MCGILL

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The congressional nonintervention bloc today mapped a two-front drive for full debate and record votes in the senate and the house on the controversial issue of convoys.

The non-interventionists plan to offer anti-convoys resolutions as amendments to bills in the senate and house authorizing President Roosevelt to requisition seized foreign-flag ships. Such a move, noninterventionists say, would at least serve as a basis for formal debate on the issue.

This procedure has been tentatively agreed upon following the senate foreign relations committee's refusal to report two anti-convoys resolutions to the senate for debate and record votes.

The noninterventionists redoubled their efforts to bring a showdown on the convoy issue as several administration senators planned to follow up a bold demand for convoys—even though they might lead to war—voiced in the senate by Sen.

Cramer Winner At Atlantic City

Wins First Division Place In National Music Competi-

Accorded Honor

David Cramer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard E. Cramer of County Line street, carried the colors of New Castle high school to the first division in the national music competition in Atlantic City Friday.
Competing as the Pennsylvania trumpet champion, David was awarded first division placing by the adjudicators. He was accompanied by Edwin Lewis.

This is the third time Cramer has competed in the national competitions. In 1940 he was the state champion and finished with a second division rating in the nationals.
In 1939 he competed with the brass sextette from New Castle, which also finished in first division.

While David Cramer was winning national honors in Atlantic City his brother Tom, also a talented musician, was elected to membership in the Pi Kappa Lambda national music fraternity at Oberlin College where he was a senior.

To be elected to Pi Kappa Lambda it is necessary to make high honor marks in all subjects in all four years of college life. Only one other person taking the same course as Tom was elected to the fraternity.

In his high school days here Tom won honors with his trombone and has continued his achievements with the instrument while in Oberlin.

Claim Turkey Moving Toward Axis

Balkan Leaders Forecast Action

Predict Turkey Is Ready To Join Tri-Partite Alliance Soon

NAZI TROOPS MAY MOVE ACROSS LAND

(International News Service) BUDAPEST, May 3.—Turkey is moving closer to the Axis powers, certain Balkan diplomatic quarters contended today, predicting that the return of German ambassador Franz von Papen to Ankara will bring speedy, decisive developments. These circles depicted Turkey as being ready to join the tri-partite alliance next week and believed the Ankara government might give Germany the right to transport troops across Turkish territory. One report from Istanbul said Germany might land an expeditionary force at the Turkish Aegean port of Smyrna for passage to Iraq where fighting between British and native troops already has broken out.

Prelude To Stand
The return of von Papen to his post in Ankara following a sojourn in Germany was believed to be the prelude for some definitive stand by the Turkish government. Von Papen was believed to have brought a final offer to the Turkish government to enter the Italo-German-Japanese camp.

(In Berlin, an official announcement said von Papen still was in Berlin and was scheduled to leave for his post within a few days.)
(Editor's Note: Nine additional reserve classes already have been called up by Turkey and the government has ordered evacuation from the northwestern areas bordering the Dardanelles. This would appear to indicate that Turkey is either preparing to resist German demands or place herself in the strategic position of driving a hard bargain with the Axis.)

Meanwhile, German quarters in Budapest reported that Arab tribesmen in Palestine and Transjordan were gathering at the southern frontier of Iraq ready to aid the Iraqi troops in their fight against the British.

BRITISH REVEAL SOME OF LOSSES IN EVACUATION

next morning the Diamond and Wynek were lost. The dead must have approached 900. In addition to the rescued men from the burning transport, the Diamond carried a normal complement of 145 and the Wynek 98. Relentlessly pursuing the evacuees, Axis E-boats Thursday attacked a large convoy of troops in Kasos Straits, but the attacks were driven off without loss.

Congratulates Navy
Following the evacuation, Commander-in-Chief of the Mediterranean fleet, Admiral Cunningham, commended the Royal Navy and Merchant Marine for taking off some 45,000 troops and a large number of refugees, with the total loss of only two destroyers and four transports.

The admiralty said that on the night of April 24 13,500 Imperial troops were taken from the Rapihis

BATTLE IN IRAQ IS CONTINUING LONDON REPORTS

London said last-minute dispatches revealed British planes had bombed and machine-gunned the Iraqi batteries out of action. "Fighting at two other points in Iraq was reported. An official Iraqi communique relayed via Bern, Switzerland, said a British attack on the post and airdrome at Rutbah, in western Iraq, was repulsed. "The communique said 26 British planes were destroyed at Habbaniyah and several British tanks were abandoned at the airdrome, where the Iraqi air force dropped 30 tons of bombs.

Berlin reported that Iraqi troops also attacked the airport at Sindbabe, which is occupied by the British. Opening Skirmish Informed British sources described the fighting between the British and Iraqi forces as the opening skirmish of a major struggle for control of Mesopotamia's priceless oil fields.

Word that heavy fighting was still in progress this afternoon followed a broadcast by the Baghdad radio urging the people of Iraq to take up arms against Britain and "fight the invader who landed troops on our soil with the sole object of enslaving us."

With scarcely any let-up, the hostilities have been continuing since early yesterday. British quarters described the situation as transforming from a "political to an operational proceeding."

Appeals For Nazi Aid

British authorities affirmed that Rashid Ali appealed to Berlin for assistance but said that despite the hostilities Anglo-Iraq diplomatic relations have not changed as yet. Diplomatic relations are being maintained on the British contention that hostilities were undertaken only by a "section of the rebel Rashid Ali's army."

London was still without direct news from the Mosul oil fields or from Baghdad, the Iraqi capital, but reports from Basra said everything was quiet in that area.

When Iraqi artillery and troops dug in around the British cantonment at the Habbaniyah air base and started fighting, it was stated, the R. A. F. planes based there took off successfully and silenced a number of guns. Aside from the fact that fighting is continuing, no further details have reached London.

Alleged Interference

Likewise there was no information regarding alleged interference with oil fields and pipe lines, but it was revealed British authorities had made plans months ago for such an eventuality and that destruction of the oil lines would not materially affect transportation of oil supplies to the British forces in the Middle East.

It was reported that Iraq sent a military commission to Saudi Arabia, requesting sympathetic support, but London circles expressed little fear that the pro-British Arabs would assist what Britain regards as a "rebel" Iraq movement.

An appeal by Iraqi Premier Rashid Ali Beg Ghalib to Berlin for German assistance against the British was regarded as the fuse which may bring Britain and the Axis powers to grips in deadly warfare in the plains of southwest Asia.

Nazis In Syria
Rashid Ali's appeal to Berlin for help was followed within a few hours by reports of an "alarming infiltration" of Nazi troops into French-mandated Syria.

(Editor's note: A broadcast by radio Toulouse said British women and children in Iraq are being evacuated to Palestine.)
Fighting was reported still progressing around the British-held air base at Habbaniyah, near Baghdad, after Iraqi troops, attempting to force the British to withdraw from Iraq, opened a sudden artillery attack.

With warfare raging in the Near Eastern oil region, the London Daily Express press said German forces have arrived in Syria and were threatening both Iraq and the British army in Palestine.

Vitality important pipe lines that carry oil to the British naval base at Haifa run to Palestine from Iraq and Iran. According to the Express, news received in London said the "number of German troops that have infiltrated into Syria is alarmingly larger than hitherto thought."

Can Reinforce Nazis
The paper pointed out that these Nazi troops "easily can be reinforced from Greece and from the German held islands of the Aegean."

Pro-British elements in the Near East came swiftly to the aid of Britain as the fighting assumed major proportions. According to the Jewish telegraphic agency the executive committee of the Jewish agency for Palestine summoned all unmarried Jewish men in the Holy Land between 20 and 30 years old to enlist immediately with the British army.

When the sudden bombardment of the R. A. F. base at Habbaniyah began at dawn yesterday, the British defenders counter-attacked and fierce fighting was reported still in progress.

British women and children refugees were at Habbaniyah, endangered by the shellfire.

Great Britain countered Rashid Ali's appeal for German aid by a dramatic radio broadcast urging the 3,500,000 people of Iraq to overthrow the Baghdad regime, which came to power early last month in a pro-Axis coup. The British broadcast termed Rashid Ali and his government "traitors of the Iraqi people."

Besieged British Holding Ground At Tobruk Is Report

(International News Service)

CAIRO, May 3.—British troops not only are holding their ground at besieged Tobruk in Libya but, today's communique claimed, are inflicting heavy losses on the enemy.

German and Italian troops, supported by large numbers of tanks, failed in an attack yesterday on Tobruk. The British held their ground and repulsed the Nazi and Fascist troops with heavy losses.

In the Sollum area, the British executed a favorite Nazi maneuver, an encircling movement, and completely surprised a large number of enemy troops. A number of prisoners and field guns were captured.

Strike Threat On Greyhound Lines

Thirteen Hundred Employees May Go On Strike On Sunday Morning

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 3.—A strike of 1,300 union employees of Pennsylvania-Greyhound Lines, Inc., affecting operations between St. Louis and New York was called today by the A.F.L.-Amalgamated Association of Street Railway and Motor Coach employees for five A.M. tomorrow.

L. A. Borway, president of the Pittsburgh district's Amalgamated Division 1063, returned from Cleveland negotiations early today and said the "protest walkout" of drivers, terminal and maintenance employees was decided there after Federal Labor Conciliator John L. Connor reported an arbitration proposal failed.

Borway said about 74 points are involved in negotiations, including demands for a closed shop, reduction in hours for terminal and maintenance employees from 42 to 40 a week; five cents a mile wage for drivers; and reduction of 4.15 cents east of Pittsburgh and four cents west. LONDON URGES STEPS AGAINST ENTERING WAR

ed States flag is deliberately fired on—whether it is by reason of patrols or convoys, or any other reason—once the flag is fired on, our response becomes inevitable—war!

"Such a step means war to the finish, over the years. It means doughboys in new expeditionary forces. It means not only sending men to Europe, as we did before, but to remote parts of the world.

"Wars are not won by half-way measures. Wars are not won by bluff. Wars are not won by clever moves of the heads of state. The greatest deception that has been practiced upon us is the implication that we can have war, and not suffer the consequences."

Last-Ditch Fight
Sen. Clark warned that the campaign to keep America at peace in reality is a last-ditch fight to preserve democracy in the United States.

"I see every reason to fear," he said, "that once we have become participants in war, we would shift into a planned military dictatorship and stay there for decades."

"I think also of the fact that at the end of another long war, no administration that got us into it could face the people without attempting some huge world-reform organization of which American soldiers, policing all the defeated nations, would be an integral part."

Clark reiterated his oft-stated opinion that "Britain is not fighting America's war," and said that he "will never, under any conditions whatever, vote to yield one jot or tittle of American independence and American sovereignty to any nation on earth."

ELEANOR JACKSON TO WED DR. G. S. SHUGERT

In The Castleton Friday evening a lovely party was held to make known the approaching marriage of Eleanor Leone Jackson, daughter of Mr. Oscar L. Jackson of Wampum, and Dr. Guy S. Shugert, son of Mrs. G. S. Shugert of Rochester.

The news was cleverly revealed in unique pink and blue scrolls encircled with wedding rings marking each place. Inside the dainty scrolls was the news, "Eleanor and Guy—June 28, 1941."

Cards were the diversion of the evening, the conclusion of the evening, prizes were given with six tables in play at went to Mrs. Judd Lamson of New Castle and Mrs. Charles Paul of Wampum.

DICKSON-PITZER WEDDING ON FRIDAY

A pretty wedding took place Friday morning, May 2, at 11:30 o'clock, in the parsonage of the Westfield Presbyterian church, when Miss Elizabeth Dickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Dickson of Edenburg, became the bride of Charles R. Pitzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Pitzer, Sr., of Mahoningtown, R. D. 7, with only the immediate families present. Rev. E. A. Shoemaker, pastor, officiated with the impressive single ring service, and they were unattended.

For her marriage, the bride was most attractive in a glacier blue reidingote, with beige and brown accompaniments. Complementing her attire was a shoulder corsage of talisman roses and white sweetpeas.

Following the exchange of vows, the group went to the home of the bridegroom's parents, where a wedding luncheon was served. The nuptial motif was used effectively in the appointments of the beautifully decorated table, individual cakes taking the place of the usual tiered cake were in tints of pink and yellow. Later, the couple left on a trip to Washington, D. C., and other places of interest.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Pitzer attended North Beaver Township High school. She graduated in '36 and from the Youngstown college in '38, and recently has been connected with the New Castle Store here. The bridegroom is a reserve petty officer in the U. S. Navy from which he was given honorable discharge, and he is affiliated with the Lawrence Laundry.

Upon returning, Mr. and Mrs. Pitzer will reside for the present at the home of her parents, and within a few weeks will move into their newly purchased home on the Mt. Jackson road.

A delightful affair of Friday evening, was the Mothers-Daughters banquet of the First Methodist church, sponsored by the Mothers Class which was attended by 151 guests. A delicious dinner course was served at the attractively decorated tables, by the Dorcas Circle members, promptly at 6:15 o'clock. Spring was the theme of the event, cut flowers and novel Dutch dolls marking each place, suggesting "Tulip Time."

Mrs. Margaret Shields gave the invocation, and president, Mrs. C. C. Reed contributed the "Welcome" address. She introduced Mrs. F. M. Stoll as toastmistress, who presided in a most capable manner, for the program of entertainment.

Two vocal numbers "God Touched The Rose" and "Sylvia" were sung by Earl Hammond with Mary Hahn, accompanist. A violin solo "Adoration" was given by Patricia Taylor with Ann Thomas, at the piano. "To the Mothers" was given by Betty Spangler and "To the Daughters" was contributed by Mrs. C. R. Brenner. Pep singing was enjoyed, with Fern Cloak as leader, and Mrs. Robert Fleming at the piano.

Speaker of the evening, was Mrs. Jesse N. Kerr who chose "Mothers" for her address. In closing, she quoted Edna A. Guestr's poem "To Walk With Children." The program continued with Juanita Foster giving two songs "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" and "Songs My Mother Taught Me" with Miss Hahn, accompanist. "My Mother" was the first reading given by Elizabeth Shaddick and second was "White Rose." All joined in singing "Blest Be The Tie That Binds" with Mrs. Robert Fleming at the piano and Miss Cloak leader, bringing the evening to a close.

FILIPINO ARMY SITUATION

ONE move in national defense will have unanimous endorsement, except of those who think Uncle Sam should pull out of the Philippines lock, stock, and barrel. That is the decision of Washington to jump the number of Filipinos in the Philippine army from 20,000 to 40,000 and put them under the command of the U. S. Army.

General Grunert will extend his authority in the islands over the Filipino armed forces against a "possible emergency." This may help reduce the headache to Uncle Sam the Filipinos ultimately may become. No one questions that if Japan attacks the United States the Nipponese will consider the Philippines as their prey.

The Filipinos who have done a lot of fussing about their freedom probably won't put up enough defense against the Japanese to wad a shot gun. The men of the United States Navy and Army would have to do most of the fighting.

So it seems to be just as well that the Filipinos be called upon. In 1939 President Quezon reduced the Filipino home guards to 20,000 as a measure of economy. The United States will now boost the force to 40,000 and no doubt pay the bill. But in the long run the expenditure should be worth it.

THE KHAMISIN

The khamsin may come to the rescue of the embattled British in Egypt against the advancing Hitler hosts. The khamsin is a spring wind which is the peculiar product of Africa. It is incubated somewhere down in darkest Africa and sets out for the northern coast over hundreds of miles of dry desert, picking up sandy silt on the way and getting hotter as it travels.

When it reaches that sad sea shore which is the north line of Africa it picks up more sand and, reducing visibility to a few yards, proceeds to cut the hands and faces of all human beings caught out in it. This wind with the high temperature which prevails in Africa at this season is destined to make both sides fighting in Egypt uncomfortable, but the Anzacs battling for Britain have been somewhat acclimated.

The attacking Germans have not been and before they get through they may be busier cursing the khamsin than they are blasting the Britons.

HONORING JOE WHEELER

It was a gracious gesture and yet it ought not to have been surprising that 2,000 soldiers at Camp Wheeler, Georgia, mostly from New England, took part, on Confederate Memorial Day, in special exercises in honor of Gen. Joe Wheeler, Southern cavalry leader in the War Between the States.

No man in the Confederate service did more to unite the two sections after the war was over. He had become the idol of the South. Some of his lightning maneuvers will rank as high as those of Col. John S. Mosby in his raids against McClellan's army.

He went back to his plantation in Alabama after the war until his people sent him to congress and when the Spanish-American war came he was prompt to offer his services to his country. Pictures of him as he skinned up a palm tree to get a line on the Spaniards in Cuba show that he had lost none of his old-time agility, and certainly his leadership revealed that he had lost none of his old-time cunning.

Joe Wheeler's service in the United States Army in Cuba won him an enduring reputation in the whole nation, as his earlier military exploits did in the South.

ON NATIONAL DISUNITY

It is perfectly clear that an appearance of disunity is a disadvantage to any country today. Other countries, to whom its policies are opposed, take heart from such signs.

However, any country which bases its policies on appearances of disunity in the United States today is making a grave mistake. Only a country untrained in the democratic process could make the grave error of assuming that because there is discussion of the best future course for the United States there is any essential disunity regarding any course, once adopted.

The very essence of the democratic process is full debate on the merits of possible courses of action. But once those courses are chosen, democratic peoples no less than others are capable of closing ranks. People in many other countries were amazed last year to see so spirited a national election so soon forgotten, its wounds so superficial, its bitterness so soon buried. So any country will be unpleasantly surprised which hears the acrid debate now going on about American relations to the war in Europe and deduces from it that the American people are basically disunited.

Too much unity before a course is finally decided up would be a bad sign rather than a good one. It is only in choosing from several courses that the democratic way really functions. It is idle, and worse than idle, to impeach the motives of adherents of one course or another without the fullest proof. Those Americans who wish anything but the good of their country are so few as not to count at all.

The basic, essential unity of the American people is there—they are all seeking what they believe is best for our country. The differences are only in what is the best course to achieve that good. It is natural, it is democratic, that there should be such differences, and that they should be heard.

The mistake is to reason from such differences to any essential cleavage among the people. There is none, and there will be none. Once decisions are made, and courses definitely charted, the American people will know how to rally united in supporting them. A hundred and fifty years of the history of the republic are proof that this is so.

Let no foreign countries, and above all let us not ourselves, confuse debate over policy with basic disunity in support of the republic once those policies and courses are set. The American people is a united people, welded and riveted together by ties of devotion to our free institutions which are not shaken by the whirlwind of debate or the hasty passions of a moment.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

TOO ACTIVE CHILD IS PROBLEM

Some mothers succeed at controlling the little child, in hard cases, by wearing the youngster down. But the trouble is they also wear themselves down. This letter is a typical example.

"Dear Dr. Myers: I have two children, one seven months, the other three years of age. The baby is wonderful but my little boy has been terribly hard to manage ever since he started to walk.

"He will not take a nap. He climbs right out of his crib, and I get exhausted lifting him back. Above all, he will not go to bed at night before 10 o'clock at the earliest. As fast as we put him in bed he climbs right out. He does this fifteen and twenty times a night, sometimes more.

"This makes it awfully hard for me as I have so much washing, etc., to do after he finally goes to sleep (from exhaustion) that I don't retire myself before two, and he is up again at 6:45 or before. He is over-active during the day, but certainly has plenty of energy left at night.

"Practically every night his father plays a game with him to see who will go to sleep first. His father does, and he gets up. Some nights his father spans him but this has no effect.

"I am enclosing a stamped envelope. Any advice you can give me will be greatly appreciated."

A Solution
I do admire your patience but wish you would not be so "fashionable" in your methods with that youngster. You have two problems: to train him to obey, and to help reduce his jealousy. You might borrow my "The Modern Parent" from your library and read the chapters on punishment and jealousy.

There is no good in Dad spanking this child occasionally. You both should work out a consistent plan. Say nothing about sleep. Put him in bed—pick him up and carry him there—about seven. Tell him he must not get up. The moment he does spank him. Do it every time he rises till he gives up. Expect him to hold out a long while the first night and for several nights. Be always in the hall till the matter is corrected.

During the day, read to him for a few minutes occasionally. Hear his talk, answer all his questions, admire his creative creations. Cuddling him now and then. Have Dad read to him on arriving home and make things with him. Never compare him unfavorably with Baby.

During the day, pick out a few things he must never touch. Spank him when he disobeys. Do nothing about other things till he learns permanently to avoid the few. As soon as he will stay where put him in a chair where you can see him, for exactly twenty minutes. And good luck.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. Would you punish a child of two or three to make him do what you want him to do?

A. No, better not even command him; ask him instead and then let him choose; but aim to be so persuasive as to win his cooperation. Except for routines this principle, as a rule, will win best cooperation from the child of any age. Employ punishment to prevent, not to promote.

The World and the Mud Puddles

UNQUENCHABLE

An Englishwoman, her husband at war, stood with her four children surveying the ruins of their bomb-shattered home. To Lady Astor, she said: "It is all pretty bad, but still I am free to go where I like and think what I like."

And the American-born peacocks comment: "Hitler may wreck our homes, but he will never wreck our hearts."

Again the inspiring thrill of pride. Pride over the daily evidences afforded that in the heart of humanity there is something indomitable and deathless—the love of liberty that is dearer than life itself.

Nor is it to be confined to those of whom Wordsworth wrote in lines of majestic beauty: "We must be free or die, who speak the tongue that Shakespeare spoke." For it is unconquerable, in hearts of men and women of all tongues.

Hitler, who dreams himself a conqueror, has found it and finds it smoldering if not flaming among every people whose lands he has invaded and despoiled; in every one of them.

That spirit will not, cannot die. But Adolf Hitler can and will. And the impossible prison of steel in which he proposes to confine a world of rabbit-like robots, fit only to breed and be consumed, will fall in ruins long before it is completed.

For the spirit, which is of God, is more powerful than chains and iron bars and bombs and gauleiters. Millions of good men and women may be massacred. Others will replace them. Others with the same quenchless love of liberty in their hearts. Others with the same reverence for the inviolable dignity of every human soul.

Bible Thought For Today

Oh, that I knew where I might find Him! That I might come even to His seat! I would order my cause before Him, and fill my mouth with arguments. I would know the words which He would answer me, and understand what He would say unto me.—Job 23:3-5.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:56. Sun rises tomorrow 4:38.

Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce, is given credit for settling the coal strike. Jesse is a newspaper publisher—and a good one.

It seems that the Republicans and Democrats in this country agree on at least one thing—no war.

A woman may forgive, but she never forgets.

Doris Dazzle tried to break with a boy friend last night.

"I'm going to return everything you ever gave me," she said.

"Let's begin with the kisses," he suggested.

The last thing the smart salesman mentions is the price, and you can't blame him.

Apparently nobody can be both frank and sweet. Those who say just what they think seem to think only catty things.

More people than ever are being killed by automobiles now. Nothing can be done about this, it seems, unless it is to abolish the automobile.

We could have a good time at lots of parties if we weren't so nervous about the consequences.

These days it's a very good idea to know what a job is going to cost before the work starts. The fellow changes his ideas of the price while doing the work, that is if he thinks he can get more than it is worth.

A "TALKING" DOG
A ventriloquist—and one of the best in his day—had looked upon wine too much and became a wanderer, and panhandled stage folk for drinks and eats. So an old story goes. One cold night, as he entered a saloon, a shivering dog slipped in and huddled himself near a hot stove.

As the ventriloquist downed his drink, the bartender jokingly asked "What would your dog like to have?"

"I'll take a bone with some meat on it," the dog replied.

The "talking" dog interested the bartender so much that he bought the cur, agreeing to pay $200 in cash and give a note for $300.

As the ventriloquist departed he told the dog (a stray) how he hated to part company with him and he hoped some day to return and buy him back.

"Everything will be all right," said the dog "and I promise you I won't say a word until my new owner pays the $300 note."

What has become of the old-fashioned railroad engineers who always had their engines polished?

In parts of India a man doesn't know his wife until he marries her. Some don't in this country either.

"How come a big fellow like that ever became a female impersonator?"

"Oh, his wife wears the pants in the family!"

Mrs. Roosevelt seems no exception to the rule that the finer the house the less a woman's in it.

I know an old rake who still has most of his teeth.

FIVE YEARS AFTER THE

A women's magazine in Switzerland published the results of the following inquiry: "How do you feel five years after your divorce?" Of 123 women who answered this question, 41 regretted their hasty decision to give up marriage and explained that if they were faced with the question today they would remain with their husbands; 25 are happy to have gotten rid of their partners; and seven—unable to better themselves—have returned to their original spouses.

It is claimed that church collection boxes now contain fewer buttons. This may be because there is more prosperity or because zippers are being worn.

Anyhow, there are husbands big enough to have the lawn mower sharpened when their wives cut the grass.

We don't hear much mention of the dove of peace any more. May have become another of the extinct birds.

"Now, Mr. Smith," began the prosecutor. "You say you went to the home of Bill Jones in connection with the case. What did he say?"

"Object!" shouted defense counsel. "This is irrelevant, incompetent and immaterial."

"How can that be unless we know what was said?" demanded the prosecutor.

"But I object on the ground that it would be hearsay, that no foundation has been laid," persisted defense counsel.

"I'll lay the foundation," said the prosecutor. "Now, Mr. Smith, you went to the house of Bill Jones. Was anyone with you?"

"No."

"What time did you go there?"

"About 2 p.m."

"Whom did you see?"

"No one. Jones wasn't at home."

President Roosevelt says American ships will go out as far as necessary. That means nothing but war and is just another way of getting out of the promise to keep us out of war.

That free speech stuff seems to have been banned in Washington at least as far as Col. Lindbergh is concerned.

Any man can give a woman driver half the road as soon as he finds out which half she wants.

Question: The other night I was attending a dinner party. One of the guests—a friend of mine—spilled a cup of coffee, causing a stain on the rug. Should he have insisted that he send it to the cleaner? He didn't do so.—Helen.

Answer: Although it is always advisable to make apologies for minor accidents at table as brief and quiet as possible, your friend, in this case, should most certainly have insisted to his hostess that he repair the damage for which he was responsible.

But such accidents are nothing to be ashamed of, as they are likely to happen to the best-mannered guests at the best-regulated table. A less-serious accident should be deplored and then forgotten. The guest who dwells upon such incidents makes everyone feel uncomfortable.

Question: I am asked out very often by a young man who always fails to have his dinner before coming to me. As I usually have already eaten, should I just wait while he is dining and drink something or should I force myself to eat more food?—Shirley.

Answer: He really should either have had his dinner when he calls for you or ask you in advance to have dinner with him. If he doesn't do either, you will then have to sit with him and eat what he has had his dinner. The latter is what I should do.

You never know the strength of your own will until you are tempted.

Possibly the prophets are afraid to forecast the end of the world. Under present conditions it might come true.

Union—Now Proposal Has Opposition
Would Align English-Speaking People
D. A. R. Convention Against Proposal

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 3. IN NATIONAL CONVENTION in Washington recently, the Daughters of the American Revolution adopted a resolution emphatically in opposition to the Union-Now movement.

The Union-Now folk favor a merger of all English-speaking countries into some sort of a confederation with a joint chief executive and a combination legislative body, chosen by the whole outfit collectively. The United States, England and the various British dominions, such as Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, would be included. Each would have a considerable measure of home rule, but they'd be one family in their confederate attitude toward the rest of the world.

Presumably India, John Bull's smaller possessions generally and maybe the Philippines would be brought into the alignment. They are not all of them very distinctly English-speakers, but never mind that. It's suggested also that it might be desirable to admit the Spanish and Portuguese-speaking Latin American republics, if they wish to join.

There'd be a certain loss of present national identities, at any rate—particularly of Yankee and British identities. These two especially would be stirred together, and the Union-Now folk themselves don't pretend to say which ingredient would predominate.

The scheme was evolved out of current war conditions, but the Union-Nowites don't propose it merely as a wartime association; they argue it as a permanency.

Capper Opposed, Too
Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas puts it that it would mean "either the absorption of the British empire by the United States or absorption of the United States into the British empire." He doesn't think it would work, and he adds that he wouldn't like it even if it would; anyhow, he'd want to feel absolutely certain, in advance, that the United States would do the absorbing.

Well, the D. A. R. agrees with him.

Nevertheless, the Union-Now people are busy. And they're beginning to get hints of coming assistance from British sources. They're discerned in connection with steps the London government is taking in the direction of the formation of an imperial war council, to co-ordinate England's own and the dominions' efforts against the Axis powers.

Premier Robert Menzies of Australia already is in personal conversation with Prime Minister Winston Churchill. Premier Peter Fraser of New Zealand is on his way to John Bull's capital. Canada and South Africa are about to increase their existing London delegations.

All this is exclusively Britain's business. But now Lord Elibank, high in the ranks of Prime Minister Churchill's advisers, is arguing for a representative in the council from the United States.

That is, if one is included. It will be good along a British imperial council, but British-American? To be sure, it will be a WAR council, but it may not be difficult to slon it over indefinitely into ensuring peace times—if they ever come. That's exactly what the Union-Now group wants, and then it wants to wangle the council on up to the confederation stage.

Churchill's Position
When the issue of absorption arises, Prime Minister Churchill probably will be no more willing to have Britain absorbed by the Unit-

GRANDPA ON THE LOOSE

You had better watch him, Grandpa, there's no telling what he'll do.

To the modern code for childhood and the diet methods new.

He will buy them chocolate soda without reason or excuse.

And go whooping into peril when a grandpa's on the loose.

There's no law or rule can check him. Let him out with them alone.

And he'll take them to the orchards where the jollypops are grown.

He will buy them all the gladness which such lovely sweets produce.

And no end of things can happen when a grandpa's on the loose.

Let him out for just a minute with the youngsters—off they'll go.

To the places of enchantment down the street they've come to know.

And they'll raid the candy counters having slipped the guarding noose.

And do much you say they shouldn't when their grandpa's on the loose.

It's a sign, perhaps of weakness, and a self-indulgent trait.

An impulsive reach for gladness since the time is growing late; It's his war 'twixt sense and folly—and there'll never be a truce— But it's fun for all the youngsters when their grandpa's on the loose.

Hints On Etiquette

One of the first rules of good manners is to be prompt for every appointment and thus keep no one waiting.

Rural Mail Box
Week Will Begin
In Area On Monday

North Beaver Garden Club Sponsoring Project To Beautify Mail Boxes

Beginning Monday, May 5, and continuing through Saturday, May 10, National Rural Mail Box Week will be observed here and in other cities throughout the nation.

Locally, the North Beaver Garden club members are sponsoring a project to have the boxes on the rural routes beautified and put in first-class shape during this week.

It is the idea of the club members that nothing is more the appearance of a rural property so much as an untidy mail box, standing in its usual prominent position along the highway.

The North Beaver club has agreed to furnish paint to any youth group that is willing to undertake the project of painting and lettering the boxes on the routes served by the Mahoningtown post office.

An appeal has been made to rural residents to repaint their boxes on sturdy posts, where necessary, and to make all boxes of a uniform height of from 3 1/2 to 4 feet above the highway surface.

Anyone interested and who desires any further information regarding box repairs should call either Edwin McBride at the post office or S. C. McCullough of Mt. Jackson road.

Proclamation

WHEREAS, the President of the United States has issued a proclamation declaring the week beginning May 4th, 1941, as National Employment Week; and, whereas, despite great expansions in employment resulting directly and indirectly from our vast national defense program, there remains a considerable number of men who, because of the fact that they are above 40 years of age, have been unable to secure employment; and, whereas it is felt that it is to the interest of the community to aid these men in finding employment and we desire to urge employers to carefully review their standards of physical qualifications in order to assimilate as many of these groups as possible.

I HEREBY PROCLAIM the week beginning May 4th, 1941, as National Employment Week in the City of New Castle. I urge all churches, civic organizations, and other organizations within the city to set aside that week as National Employment Week so the interest in the welfare of those not now employed may be stimulated and employment extended to them.

Private Oil Tankers
Drafted To Aid Britain

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Material aid to Britain—both ships and planes—were in the process of being drafted out of United States private ownership today, to be paid for out of federal lease-lend funds.

Following a day-long conference between the Maritime Commission and owners of virtually all oil tankers in the nation, it was agreed in principle to set aside 500,000 tons, about 50 oil tankers, "for service" of the British.

At the same time, Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones informed President Roosevelt that "a substantial number of planes"—between 20 and 30—would be drawn from commercial air lines within the next few days to be turned over to the president for disposal to the British under terms of the lease-lend act.

A Maritime Commission spokesman explained that the tankers were probably would not be turned over to the British but would be used in "shuttle" service to ship oil between South American, Central American and Gulf port and North Atlantic ports of New York, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

Circus Seals Are Talented Artists

One of Wallace Brothers Circus performing seals takes time out to show Capt. H. C. Pickard, his trainer, one of the tricks he likes best, but to tell the truth nearly every seal likes everything they do and to prove their remarkable intelligence—enjoy starting their audience off by offering some applause.

Circus day will be on Monday, May 12 when the Wallace Brothers Circus comes to New Castle for two performances at 2 and 8 p. m., rain or shine, upon the Mahoning show grounds, at Cedar street. This year the big show has been greatly augmented with a countless array of stupendous features of which the management has gathered together from all parts of the world.

Amongst the novel animal features will be Capt. H. C. Pickard's performing seals and sea lions, of which are always enjoyed by both youngsters and oldsters, as the intelligent creatures brazenly clap their flippers in approval of their own feats of which not only enjoyment, but laughter is aroused from the pleased onlookers.

Capt. Pickard is without a doubt America's foremost authority on these sleek animals and there is not a day passes without several groups of circus visitors asking him about the habits of his charges. Not only will they be seen during the performances, but will also be on display in the big menagerie where care-takers will gladly answer questions regarding them.

Each winter Capt. Pickard makes a trip to the Coronado Isles not far from the coast of Lower California where he secures priceless specimens to bring back and train at his well-known seal school. The best students each spring are selected and are rewarded by going with the circus, of which every seal enjoys. It is a known fact, Capt. Pickard says—that my charges love to perform and best of all they relish the response of applause from the audience of which, when not started off at the proper time—well, the seals have the cautious habit of giving a little start themselves.

Among the personnel of seal graduates touring this season with the Wallace Brothers will be seen such stars as "Charlie," "Blanche," "Buster," "Red" and "Teddy" whom the latter is the favorite.

Much care must be given to the troupe and Capt. Pickard although employs a corps of assistants, devotes most of his own time in seeing to their utmost comforts. They have a large tank built in one end of their cage wagon and when not practicing their music lessons, enjoy occasional plunges which next to their allotted portions of fish they enjoy best of all.

Senior Class To Present Play On Friday Evening

Commencement Season For Graduating Class To Open Next Week

Commencement season for the June graduates of New Castle high school opens next Friday evening with the class play. It is a modern comedy in three acts, by Aurania Rouverol and William Spence Rouverol, and is entitled, "Young April". There is a well selected cast of 16, half boys and half girls.

"Young April" is appropriate to the season of the year and to the age of the members of the cast. It is a salad of romances; happy, mature, long-married lovers; an incidental glimpse of some newweds; a love affair that is just settling down to sure steady march to the altar; and love's young dream just out of high school, and restless under the prospect of years of waiting as the ardent suitor grinds away at his professional training. These springtime ingredients are dressed up with a pungent sauce of clever dialog and ridiculous situations, and finished off with two or three comical characters like bright cherries atop of all.

We recommend "Young April" as an evening of escape from the troubles of the world, and the fun of seeing your young friends behind the footlights.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

SOME REASONS WHY IT'S UNFORTUNATE TO BE AN ONLY CHILD IN FAMILY.

Some friends of mine have a son who is something of a prodigy in their eyes, but his genius is apparent most in the way he keeps their home in an uproar. Every time I go there, I thank Heaven there aren't many of his kind about. Usually I go away feeling the parents are making a mistake in allowing him to grow up so eccentric and self-centered. Their son is "different", alright, but I'm afraid this difference that seems to them so admirable now may be something that wouldn't make them so proud, or their son so happy, later on.

I think that couples who have only one child—and, alas, their numbers are increasing—try harder than others to make geniuses of their offspring. There are a number of reasons why it is unfortunate to be an only child, and not the least important is that an only daughter or only son becomes the center of all the hopes and ambitions of the parents, with less chance of developing her or his own natural bent in life.

A few weeks ago a young man came to me to ask me if I could speak to his parents. His father and mother had determined that he should be a doctor. He wanted to do something with mechanics. His favorite hobby was monkeying with an old car he had. Medicine held no interest for him and yet his family were practically forcing him to go to medical college.

After the boy spoke to me, I thought about the matter for a long while before I spoke to the boy's mother and father. When I did, I could see that they seemed my inference. I haven't heard yet whether I did the boy any good or not. I sincerely hope I did, for he will be a far better citizen if he is happy in some mechanical profession or trade than if he were unhappy as a medical man. I can just imagine a young doctor, disliking his work and being called out in the middle

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 3.—Disregarding the objections of the Liquor Control Board, the legislature is preparing to enact a bill exempting private clubs from the Liquor Quota Law ... already approved by the house the measure appears slated for senate approval also. ... It is sponsored by Reps. C. O. Williams, Washington, and John J. Baker, Allegheny, both Democrats.

The 1939 law, enacted by a Republican legislature, provides that new liquor licenses cannot be granted in communities where the number already in existence exceeds the ratio of one to 1,000 population. ... Former House Speaker Ellwood J. Turner (R) Delaware termed the grounds that due to an error the joint conference committee which approved the act during the closing days of the 1939 session failed to exclude clubs, although that had been the conferees' intent.

Other members attacked the legislation as "discriminatory," however, a view unofficially upheld by the Liquor Control Board, a high official of which explained: "There's nothing much we can do about it. ... Too many of the legislators either belong to clubs themselves or visit with member friends" ... Private club members can obtain liquor on Sundays and after regular closing hours during the week.

The legislature has been asked to adopt an official state song. ... Rep. Roy C. Haberlen (D) Westmoreland

Urges Bonuses In Lieu Of Vacations

O. P. M. Chiefs Seek To Keep Defense Industries
At Full Speed

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 3.—A few hours after President Roosevelt called upon his defense chiefs to pool every machine in the nation on a round-the-clock basis O. P. M. chiefs today urged total defense industries to abolish vacations so that production can be kept at maximum speed.

William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman co-defense chiefs issued appeals to all industry to pay bonuses instead of the usual summer vacations.

Earlier the president had written Knudsen and Hillman that the "critical situation that confronts our nation" requires an even greater effort in production of machine tools used in the manufacture of munitions, planes and ships.

Knudsen and Hillman quickly followed with the bonus appeal and in a joint statement said:

"The action was taken at the request of many employers who wished to make vacation plans for their workers. The policy has been adopted as a means of getting maximum production this summer and at the same time protecting the rights and health of workers. The policy applies only to private employers having vacation plans.

"Employees in plants manufacturing munitions or essential war materials should be paid as a bonus the equivalent amount of money they should receive during their vacation period. In no instance should a vacation be denied a worker who for reasons of health desires a rest. Vacations that are allowed should be staggered as much as possible through the period May 30 to August 31."

Following a conference between the county commissioners, supervisors of Union township and the state highway department in Pittsburgh, there appears to be a possibility that the state may build a curbing on the east side of Atlantic avenue.

The local group went down to ask for curbing and sidewalks on Atlantic avenue. The highway department refused to consider the placing of sidewalks but said the question of curbing would be given serious consideration.

For the month of April, your county expenditures were $29,975.84 from the general fund, according to a statement prepared today by County Controller Frank W. Hill. Some idea of where your money went may be gathered from the following breakdown of the total.

The county jail cost $712.76 of which $345 was for salaries, $273.12 for hospitals, and the balance for incidentals. The cost of boarding prisoners was not included in the total.

The coroner's office cost $160.30. Probationary's office cost $1103.76 of which $935.80 was for salaries. Dockets cost $92.71, postage, stationery and printing cost $41.50, and the balance was for incidentals.

The district attorney's office cost $988.25 of which $884 was for salaries, $44.71 for expenses, postage, printing and stationery $23.50, and the balance for incidentals.

The law library cost $110.40. The cost of the courts amounted to $3020.27. Of this a little over $800 was for salaries, $319.23 for transcripts, $1428.36 for jurors, $169.55 for viewers, and the balance for incidental expense.

Justices and aldermen got $275.97 during the month, and constables $205.40.

The probation and parole office cost $1013.75. Of this $470 was for salaries, $120.50 for traveling expense, $135.72 for postage, printing and stationery, clothing and shoes cost $114.33, maintenance of children $78, and the balance for incidentals.

Penal institutions cost $1542.37. Of this $132 went to the eastern penitentiary, $396.40 to the Pennsylvania Industrial school, $28.86 to the state industrial school for women, $1102.51 to the western penitentiary.

Non-county institutions cost $213.98. Of this $187.21 went to Torrington and $26.77 to Allentown state hospital.

Maintenance of children in outside homes cost $118.67. Of this $73.47 went to the Margaret Henry Home for Children, $30.20 to the Bethesda home and $10 for boarding children outside.

Annual Derby Will Draw Big Crowd To Track

Expect Crowd Of 100,000 To Witness Running Of 67th
Renewal Of Classic

PORTER'S CAP IS HEAVY FAVORITE

By EDWARD W. COCHRANE
Louisville, Ky., May 3.—Porter's Cap in front, shared home by our boots, with Vaseline in the show position.

That's exactly how the 67th renewal of the historic Kentucky Derby, classic of the American turf, seemed to measure up today as 100,000 followers of the sport of kings began to wend their way to Churchill Downs.

But it might be well to pause here long enough for a reminder that there are eight other colts ready to run for the $75,000 stake posted by Col. Matt Winn in what is generally regarded by the women as the most wide open derby since Sir Barton won it back in 1919.

Expect Big Crowd
Never before has this springtime classic excited the sporting blood of the nation as it has this time and if the weather holds good until race time about 5:45 p. m. central daylight time, the lifetime ambition of the 80-year-old master of the Downs to entertain 100,000 folks at a derby will be realized. He based his claim to such a crowd on the fact that business is 25 per cent ahead of last year and that holds good all day $2,000,000 will go through the mutuels, a large percentage of it on the run for the roses. This would be the largest handle since the 1926 days of high finance when Bubbling Over produced for Col. Edward R. Bradley, owner of Idle Hour, whose Kentucky colors will be missing from today's race for the first time in many years.

The field may not stand out as the greatest that ever contested for this prize, but it certainly is one of the best matched fields that ever faced a derby starter. It is difficult to pick a winner in such a race, but if one is to rate them on past performances and their work-outs during the training since the supreme test of thoroughbred greatness, it is necessary to name Porter's Cap, our boots and Whirlaway for the first three positions.

MOFFAT STORER
DUKE SPEEDSTER
DURHAM — Moffat Storer, Duke University athlete, carries mail like a transcontinental plane.

In a recent track meet, Storer ran the 100-yard dash in 9.6 seconds, the fastest time turned in by a Southern thundr in years. In addition, Storer is a star back on the Duke grid juggernaut.

Representing New Castle's "Y" are Florence Badger of the Seneca club, Betty Mae Wright of the Senior club at Ne-Ca-Hi, and Mrs. James E. Chambers of the Girl Reserve committee.

BUSINESS COMMITTEE
Business committee of the Y. W. C. A. will hold its monthly meeting Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the office of the general secretary. On this committee are the officers and committee chairmen of all three "Y" business clubs. Miss Floy Owens is chairman.

Members of the International Institute committee sponsored an exhibit and tea Thursday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. with Mrs. Alice McMillan in charge.

Tables were arranged in several of the "Y" rooms displaying the handicraft, shawls, bedspreads, quilts and various other articles from many lands. A feature was a talk by Mrs. Frances Simington explaining a collection of lamps which she displayed.

Other features of the program were: Solos, Miss Betty Smith, accompanied by Jane Bryan; piano solos, Miss Geraldine Anderson; vocal solo, Miss John Johnson.

At the close, tea was served with Mrs. Elder Bryan and Mrs. C. M. England in charge. Miss Ethel Moore and Mrs. A. E. Douglas had charge of the program.

Johnny Mize isn't the only St. Louis Cardinal super-dreadnaught this year. By hitting two homers in the season's first series, Ernie Koy found himself two months ahead of his 1940 pace. Last year his second homer happened June 23.

Every big league pitcher strives for the same goal—20 wins in a season. Larry French, of the Cubs, is striving again, the 13th time. He won 18 for the Pirates in 1932 and again in 1933.

NEW YORK—Frank McCormick, Cincinnati first baseman, clouted four home runs on three successive opening days. He hit one in 1939, repeated in 1940 and manufactured two this year.

Proclamation

WHEREAS: Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, has designated the week beginning May 4th as "National Employment Week"; and

WHEREAS: Despite great expansion resulting directly and indirectly from our national defense program, local, state and federal governments continue to be concerned with the problem of older workers, many of whom still lack a place in industry, and

WHEREAS: The United States Employment Service, operated jointly by state and federal government are making special efforts in behalf of workers past 40 years of age, and

WHEREAS: It is known from available facts that these workers in and past middle life possess abilities and skill which fit them for employment in nearly every line of work, and they have a definite contribution to make at this time of incurring shortages of experienced workers, and

WHEREAS: It is important in our national defense efforts, that we fully and effectively use all available manpower of the nation.

Now, therefore, I, William McGlincy, Burgess of the Borough of Ellwood City, do hereby by call upon and urge all church, civic organizations, Chamber of Commerce, veterans' organizations, industry, labor, public spirited citizens, radio and press in the City of Ellwood to observe that week as "National Employment Week" to the end that interest in the welfare of all those not now working, and especially the workers over 40 years of age, may be stimulated, and employment be extended to them.

WM. MCGLINCY,
Burgess.

Market Stages Second Bullish Demonstration In Two Days As Week Closes

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 3.—The stock market eased today as commodity markets staged another bullish demonstration under the leadership of cotton.

There were few features. Some oils were in further demand and Skelly hit a new high with a fractional advance. Atchison was active in rails and equalled its 1941 high. On the other hand C. & O. equalled its low.

American Car & Foundry pre-ferred advanced a point. Steel shares were mostly lower but price changes were small. Motors were quiet and mixed.

Douglas came back fractionally. Continental Air lost a point. Coppers were mixed.

The sessions produced a number of new lows including American Can, Engineers Public Service, Swift and Tenth-Century Fox.

Auto stocks generally were lower and some specialties dropped nearly 4 points. Such a decline was recorded by Merritt-Chapman & Scott preferred. Lesser drops hit some utilities.

Firmness marked dealings in government bonds. Corporate bonds were mixed, high-grade issues were firm to slightly better while most second-grade and speculative issues showed small losses.

Congressmen's Mail Shows Much Sentiment Against U. S. Convoys

By GRIFFING BANCROFT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 3.—A canvass of congressional mail—usually a reliable barometer of public opinion—today disclosed strong sentiment throughout the country against convoying ships to Britain or this country's participation in the war.

The International News Service survey, covering virtually every state in the union showed, however, that there is a wide sectional difference of opinion.

Throughout the Middle-West and most of the Far West, letter writers were almost solid—sometimes as high as several hundred to one—against convoys and war. In the south, on the other hand, the feeling ran about 50-50, with some districts even showing a majority in favor of armed intervention.

New England was running around two to one against convoys, while the sentiment in the industrial East seemed about 4 to 1 for a stay-out-of-war policy.

Most congressmen said the volume of mail was very light, considering the importance of the issue, and many attributed this to "public bewilderment."

Some Of Results
Following are some typical results of the survey:

Senators Johnson (D) Colo.—"My mail runs 2 to 1 against convoys and people are begging to be kept out of war"; Willis (R) Ind.—"Substantial and representative mail against convoys"; Ellender (D) La.—"15 letters a day, most in favor of convoys"; Brewster (R) Maine—"Ten letters a day, most opposing convoys."

Representatives: Bolles (R) Wis. estimates mail at 160 to 2 against convoys and unanimity against war; Beam (D) Ill., 100 to 150 letters a week against convoys and war; Larrabee (D) Ind., 70 to 80 per cent of mail against convoys; Voorhis (D) Calif., "Mostly against convoys and war"; Kilday (D) Tex., "Very little mail, about 50-50 on convoy question."

Disney (D) Okla., "At least 4 to 1 against convoys"; Sparkman (D) Ala., "Almost unanimous in favor of convoys"; Carlinus (D) Ark., "Most feel we should get the goods to England"; McGregor (R) O., at least 20 to 1 against convoys; Cole (D) Md., "About 20 letters a day running 4 to 1 against convoys though the other side is pushing up a little now."

Oppose Convoys
Michener (R) Mich., "Haven't had more than half a dozen letters favoring convoys and get six a day opposing them"; Rankin (R) Mont., "Most feel we should get the goods to England"; Knutson (R) Minn., only one letter so far for convoys, 25 a day against; Zimmerman (D) Mo., two to one against convoys and higher against war; Curtis (R) Neb., 50 letters a day, almost solid against convoys and war; Stearns (R) N. H., 15 letters a day, slightly more than half favoring convoys; Bates (R) Mass., four to one against convoys; Brooks (D) La., "99 per cent urge all aid to Britain even if it means convoys"; Wadsworth (R) N. Y., four to one against convoys; Kerr (D) N. C., 25 letters a day, 50-50 on convoys, four to one against war.

Schoolboys Help Fight Brush Blaze

Shenango Volunteers Call Fairview Lads To Parkstown Battle

Boys of Fairview grade school, Union township, fought side-by-side with volunteer firemen from Shenango township when a stubborn fire, whipped by high winds, swept a broad tract of brushland just south of Parkstown Corners Friday afternoon.

A large area of brush was burned, but no other damage resulted. Several homes were threatened, however, before the flames were conquered. The fire, neighbors said, had burned since Thursday evening.

The Shenango men, finding the fire too great for their number, enlisted the Fairview lads from their teacher, Miss Mary Taviatz. High praise was heaped upon the schoolboys by the township volunteers, who traveled all the way from East New Castle after a union resident guaranteed any fire-fighting expenses.

State motor police today were checking on the driver of a truck who, the firemen said, deliberately blocked passage of the Shenango truck en route to Parkstown Corners. The driver will be charged with failure to yield right-of-way to a fire truck before Justice of the Peace John T. Brinton.

Today at 10 a. m. Shenango's men were called to extinguish a blazing gasoline pump at the slaughterhouse of Joseph Cohen & Sons, off Frew Mill road.

Charges Administration Is Violating Pledges To People Of Nation

By ROBERT A. M'GILL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The administration was charged on the floor of the house Friday with "violating its pledge to the people by now advocating convoys."

The accusation was made by Rep. Rich (D) Pa., who declared that when Sen. Guffey (D) Pa., spoke in favor of convoys on the senate floor "he was speaking for the administration."

A swift denial came from Rep. Faddis (D) Pa., who told the house that "Senator Guffey was speaking as the senator from Pennsylvania and in my opinion the state of Pennsylvania wants to get aid to Britain even if it means convoys."

Rep. Van Zandt (R) Pa., however, declared that he had recently toured the Keystone state "and had found the people overwhelmingly against convoys."

Rep. Wasieleski (D) Wis., rose to the floor and criticized Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., for "spreading a defeatist gospel in recent speeches aimed against the administration's British aid policy."

"I believe the Montana senator is entirely misled," Wasieleski said. "He is unfortunately spreading a defeatist gospel to the American people and is playing unwittingly into the hands of foreign dictators in following his present course."

However, on an objection raised by Rep. Keefe (R) Wis., portions of Wasieleski's remarks aimed at Wheeler were ordered stricken from the congressional record under a house rule which prohibits attack from the floor upon members of the other branch of congress.

Many College Men Lead Local Batteries

By JOHN BALL
Special News Correspondent
CAMP SHELBY, Miss., April 30.—From a recent survey completed in conjunction with the scientific classification of the army is performing to niche and groom the individual abilities and talents of its manpower, it was interesting to note the excellent educational backgrounds possessed by members of the New Castle artillery units. Batteries P and Service, who are busily engaged in the advanced stages of the new army's profound training program.

As revealed by the gathered information and compared with other units, the Lawrence countians stand very high in educational qualifications, which undoubtedly speaks candidly of their outstanding work in all the combined lines of this artillery regiment. Battery F leads in the problems of gunnery and firing and as a first class soldiering outfit. The Service Battery is constantly complimented on the excellence of its handling of battalion supplies and like.

When you consider the leaders among the noncommissioned officers are mostly college products, the reasons for top flight military production is evident.

Representative of Battery F's "I. Q." is Sgt. James Krug, who is also the battery's acting reconnaissance officer, owns a sheepskin of the LLB category from Ohio Northern university at Ada, O. Sergeant Krug is a member of the Ohio State Bar, but does not maintain a practice.

Robert K. Wilson, corporal in the instrument section, in civilian life is an instructor in the New Castle public schools graduated from Thiel college with an AB.

With a course of engineering at Iowa State university under his scalp, Corp. Evan T. Kuhnner makes prolific material for the highly technicalized instrument section in an artillery firing battery. Sgt. Roderick T. Edwards, who avocationally toots a mean trumpet, and now a gunnery noncom, attended Geneva college. Sgt. Robert Cochran, an adept personality in the realm of military supplies keeping the boys of Battery P happy with new clothes and such, absorbed his executive ability from the New Castle Business college. Whereas, Corp. Charles Krause hails from Slippery Rock State Teachers college and Sgt. Ben Nessel, chief of the signal section, which handles the communication facilities, is well equipped with a specialized talent in telephonic and radio work; a product of the National Institute of Radio at Washington, D. C.

Outstanding for their skill in the Service Battery belies their cultivated educational capacities from the backgrounds of men such as Sgt. Albert Weber, by profession an accountant, and a product from Penn State in commerce and finance.

Corp. Dennis Allhouse's Alma Mater, where he attended the school of music, is Westminster. If the army was in the market for basketball teams, Corporal Dennis would sell Uncle Sam the Westminster Titans.

From a good old Notre Dame comes Private first class Harry Pagley, and as a former student of journalism at Pennsylvania U. for two years the Service Battery boasts of William Harlan, Pfc.

Complete in the wizardry of the touch system and double-timed shorthand expert is Sgt. Walter Szymkowicz, battery clerk, another graduate of the New Castle Business college.

More in the specialty field are other New Castleites now making their home at Shelby and carry credentials from various vocational schools. One of these specialists is Pfc Samuel Travers, who is currently attending Army Motor school at Fort Normville, San Antonio, Tex., a protege from the Heintz Auto Tire Treading System in Cleveland, O.

Corp. William Miron attended the Maritime School for Sailors at Galveston, Tex., and it wasn't long before he became a soldier. However, this former training, according to Bill, has been a great aid in the military sense.

From the Pennsylvania State Forestry Department of Conservation is Ployd Connors, Pfc., with a wealth of knowledge ever handy in pioneering, as it is known in the army, which means the building of roads, bridges and other transportation constructions.

Uniquely, with all the men with already achieved educations, there is a soldier of the Service Battery who has not quite completed his high school career due to the interruption caused by his being inducted into federal service. He is Pfc James Temenski, who aside from being a versatile athlete starring on the New Castle High Red Hurricane for several seasons and winning honors in all other scholastic sports, is equally at home with good grades. Temenski plans to return to his education upon completion of his army life and make his way in the upper brackets of collegiate popularity.

This cross section of mental gentry surely is an example of how today's army is rapidly becoming the table of operations for gray matter intelligentsia not only in the commissioned offices, but as well in the ranks.

With all power of learning at their command, these men are still going to school, for in the army a soldier learns something, twice in the amount, every day.

Senator Taft Assails Attack By President Says President Roosevelt's Attack Upon Lindbergh Was "Cowardly"

(International News Service)
COLUMBUS, O., May 3.—Declaring that President Roosevelt's attack on Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was "cowardly," Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, on Friday charged that he "knew of no better way to destroy national unity."

The senator told a meeting of the Ohio Federation of Republican women that "if we make the English channel our line of defense, we will be in the war for the rest of our lives."

"Colonel Lindbergh's views are the views of a patriotic American, submitted because he believes that only by their adoption can freedom and happiness be preserved in the United States," the senator declared. "The president is afraid to ask congress to declare war, and yet uses the prestige of the presidential office to make a charge of defeatism and treachery, which is wholly unjustified and could only have a shadow of justification if we were at war ourselves. Such injustice and prejudice can only create the most bitter differences of opinion in a time of national crisis."

Taft expressed the belief that the policy of the administration is directed towards involving the United States in war, adding: "Much as I favor aid to England by the shipment of munitions of war, particularly airplanes, I am convinced that if we undertake to defend England by force of arms, if we make the English channel our line of defense, we will be in the war for the rest of our lives."

MEET NEEDS OF TOMATO TO GROW GOOD YIELDS

Six years of production records have shown the importance of using certain cultural practices to obtain large yields of high quality tomatoes.

Get a good stand of healthy plants by June 5 with plants spaced about 3x5 feet or 4x4 feet apart. The spacing depends upon the variety and the soil.

Fertile, well-drained loam soils, rich in organic matter and retentive of moisture have most consistently given high yields.

Rotate tomatoes with soil-building green manure crops or apply manure and soil-saving winter crops. On average loam soils apply 500 to 800 pounds per acre of 3-12-6 or similar fertilizer. With manure and soil, a 4-16-4 may be sufficient.

Early cultivation should be given to the plants, and later the field must be cultivated often enough to prevent weed growth.

PREPARE PULLETS FOR "HOME ON THE RANGE"

"Pullets on range" is a familiar picture which is being seen increasingly throughout the countryside as milder weather, green pastures and well-feathered early hatched pullets herald the poultryman's preparations for another production year.

Generally, pullets are 8 to 12 weeks of age when placed on range if a summer shelter is used. Such pullets have learned to roost, have completed their first full set of feathers, and quickly adjust themselves to the change from brooding quarters to the open shelter. If the shelter rests in a spot where strong cold winds may strike, comfort will be more readily assured if three sides are covered with burlap bags. It is best to move the birds during a favorable spell of weather.

It is a good plan to place the birds on the roosts the first night after transferring them to the shelter. Thus they will be more likely to return to the roosts instead of sleeping on the wire floor. After this problem is solved by placing about a dozen pullets in the shelter for several days prior to moving the balance and these in turn teach the others to occupy the roosts. This is especially helpful in the case of heavier, accustomed to sleeping on the floor of the brooder house.

Ample roost space is important to meet the needs of growing pullets. The 9 by 10-foot summer shelter provides roost space for 100 to 150 pullets. When the brooder house becomes a summer roosting house the training roosts may not be ample for the growing pullets. Pullets can meet these needs by supplying higher roost area to prevent crowding and awaiting of the smaller roosting platform and in turn prevent damp places on the litter which usually result from pullets sleeping on the floor.

Feed and water should be provided within the shelter for a few days until pullets become familiar with their new home.

PRUNE SHRUBS WHEN THE TIME IS RIGHT

Ornamental shrub pruning is a spring job that most amateurs shun because they feel that they do not know the proper methods. Considering some of the reasons for pruning makes proper pruning seem less difficult.

Dead or diseased portions are removed to prevent spread of disease and to give a more healthy appearance to the entire shrub. When pruning established shrubs about one-third of the oldest wood is removed each year to permit the newer branches to grow more vigorously and produce large, healthy leaves and flowers.

Shrubs generally produce more healthy and well-formed branches and flowers if this old wood is removed clear back to the ground. This provides more sunlight and room for the development of the new branches which are continuously arising from the base of the plant.

These two general rules are very good ones to follow when pruning.

most of the common shrubs, such as Spiraea, Dogwood, Weigela and Mockoranges. But certain shrubs will respond best to even more severe pruning. For example, the Snowhill Hydrangeas and the Hybrid Tea and Perpetual Roses should be pruned back to two or four buds each year to develop the most vigorous and healthy foliage and flowers.

There are two definite different seasons for pruning shrubs. The termination of the proper season for pruning any particular shrub is based upon the time it blossoms.

Shrubs which flower during summer, such as Hydrangeas, Bush Roses, Dogwood and Snowberries, should be pruned in the late winter or early spring because these plants produce flowers on the current season wood of vigorous young shoots.

The flower buds of spring-flowering shrubs, such as the Spiraea, Lilacs, Forsythias, Weigelas, Ninebark and Mockoranges, are borne on branches which grew during the previous summer. In order to prevent cutting off flower buds, it is desirable to prune these shrubs in the summer as soon as they have finished flowering and before new flower buds have developed for the next season's crop of bloom.

SORGHUM CAN BE USED IN MAKING OF SILAGE

Beetle damage, soil erosion, and the conflict of corn cultivation with harvest operations have interested many farmers in substitutes for silage corn.

Silage made from alfalfa, clover, soybeans and even timothy has advantages over corn from the protein and carotene standpoint, as well as that of saving labor in production. Some of the southern counties have been growing sorghum for silage, either alone or in mixtures with soybeans. In the latter case, one of the objects was to avoid the need of buying and adding molasses as a preservative.

Sorghum is better able to withstand heat and drought than corn and ordinarily it has not met with much popularity outside the semiarid regions. Sorghum silage is much lower in protein than corn and unless it is nearly mature, with the seeds fairly hard, the silage is likely to be sour and unpalatable. The sweet sorghums generally are used and yields have been comparable to corn.

Atlas sorgho is one of the largest, latest and most lodge-resistant of the sorghums. It needs a long, warm season in southeastern Pennsylvania to reach satisfactory maturity. Leoti, Orange and Sumac are earlier than Atlas, and Black and Early Amber are the earliest. Atlas generally has been row-planted and cultivated. The smaller, earlier sorts may be more desirable for dryland and broadcast along with soybeans.

When planted in rows to be harvested with a corn binder, two or three plants per foot of row are needed. Since germination and come-up often are poor, twice this number of seeds generally is required or five to seven pounds of seed per acre. A grain drill with only every fourth or fifth hole sowing, or a corn planter with sorghum or broom corn plates, may be used. Shallow planting not much before June 1 is necessary, since sorghum is a hot weather plant which comes up spindling and is hard to keep clean of weeds at first.

Putting 15 to 25 pounds of soybeans per acre in the row with the sorghum seems to have worked well in some cases. The beans help keep down weeds and raise the protein content of the silage.

Some farmers have produced large yields of good silage by drilling four to six pecks of beans and 15 to 40 pounds of amber sorghum broadcast. Such mixtures have been mowed and loaded with a hay loader or very heavy and hard to handle. When planter with sorghum and binding with a grain binder facilitated loading and feeding.

Sorghum has the reputation of being "hard on the land." Where manure or a good complete fertilizer is applied on the following crop, this should not be serious. Frosted or stunted sorghum may contain dangerous amounts of prussic acid but apparently this does not remain in hay or silage.

STRAWBERRIES FURNISH FLAVOR AND VITAMIN C

Improved growing and transportation methods have lengthened the strawberry season until nowadays the popular berry is available almost the year round. Too, the arrival of the cold storage locker has helped to keep fresh strawberries on the table.

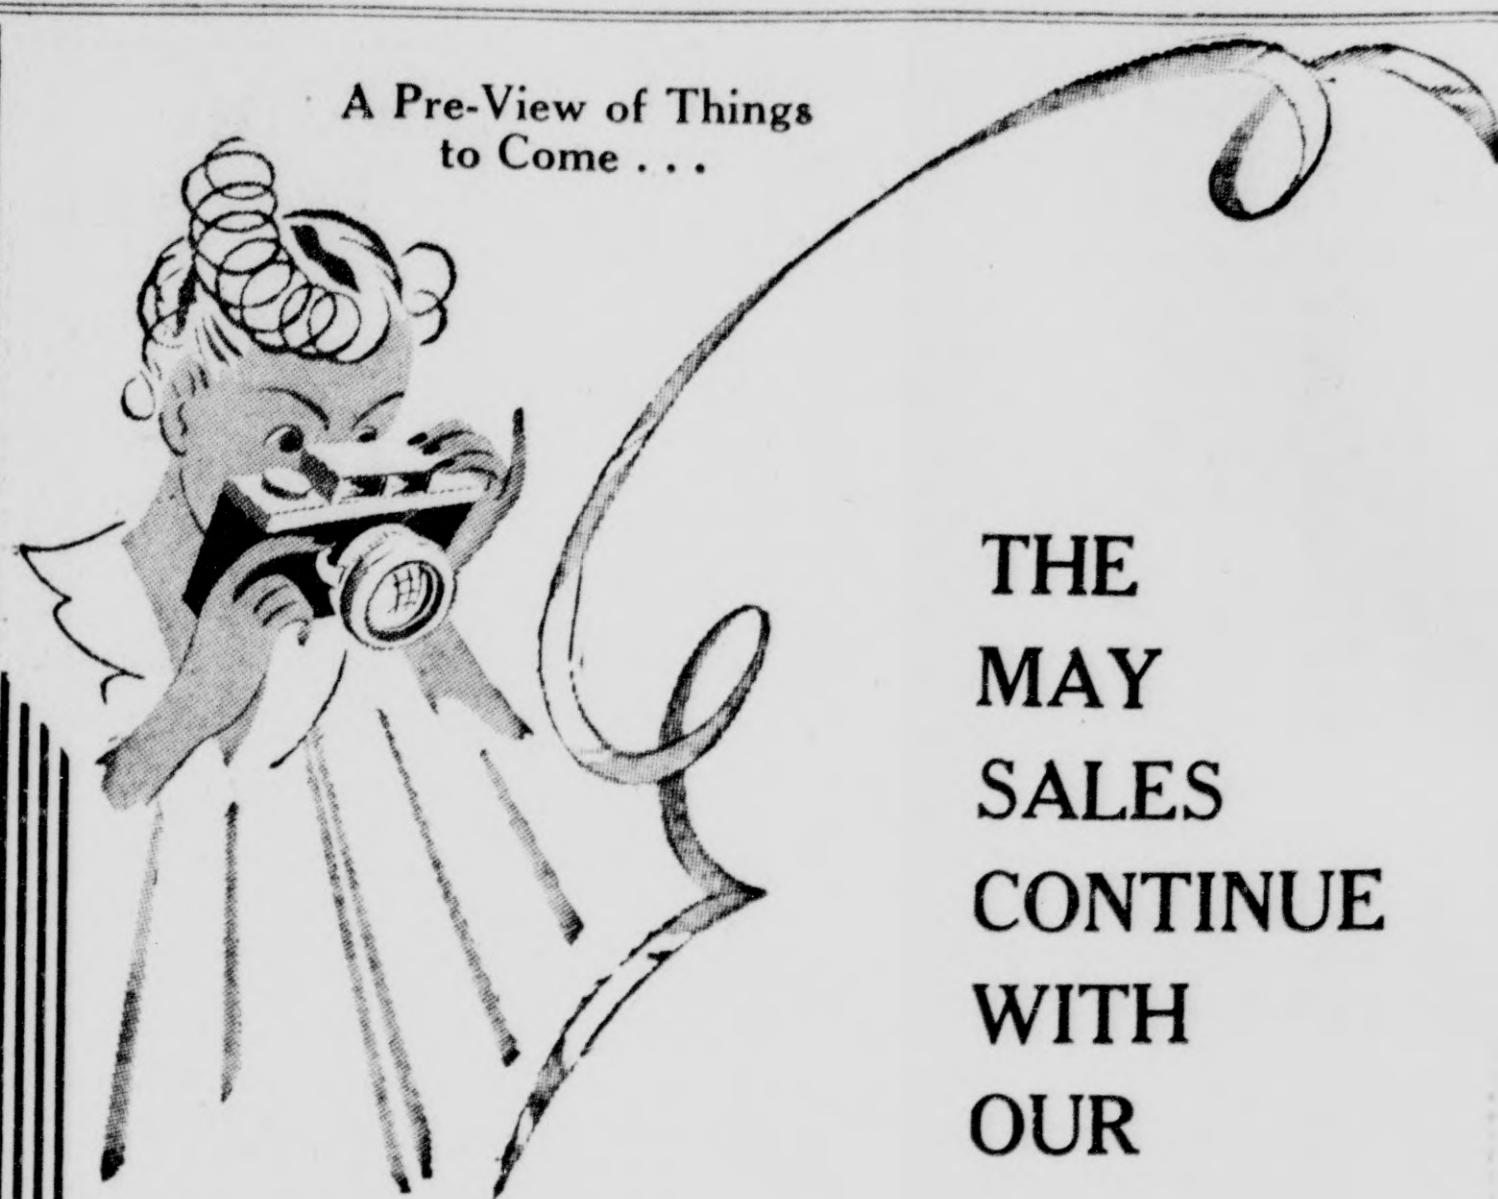

It is always pleasant to hear that a food chosen primarily for flavor also has some special virtue as a "health protector." Strawberries belong in this class—most people are fond of them and they are a rich source of vitamin C, reports the home economics extension representative of Lawrence county.

A sauce dish full of strawberries will furnish most of the vitamin C needed for one day. The same amount of berries, eaten as strawberry shortcake will be similarly beneficial. The milk or cream served with the berries is an added health protector.

One precaution should be noted regarding strawberries. Some persons develop a skin rash from them, especially when eaten frequently and in too large amounts. Other sources of vitamin V may be safer for such persons.

BANQUET FOR A NICKEL

WASHINGTON—A banquet for a nickel is what school children can obtain for lunch at Greenwood school near Birmingham, Alabama, the farm security administration has reported. The children can get a heaped-up plate of meat, vegetables, fruit, bread and milk or hot chocolate for their five cents. The members of the community canned surplus garden food and the FSA distributed it in the school.
